Why Keep Records?

- To have an account of all your 4-H accomplishments in one place.
- Records point up the advantages and disadvantages of projects.
- They reflect your interest as a 4-H member.
- Records show self improvement and service to others.
- To show others what you have done.
- To train yourself for future work.

Helps for Record Keeping

- Read the whole record book through now.
- Tie a pencil to your record book.
- Keep the book handy for you but out of reach of small children.
- Keep your records up-to-date.
- If you need more pages, make them yourself and fasten them in the book.
- Complete section I before beginning project.
- Complete sections II-VIII as you work on your project.

I. My objectives or goals for taking this project. (Tell the things you want to do or learn in this project this years.)

II. Things I learned in this project.

III. Things I did in my project. (Show size and scope of project by showing growth, profits, losses, savings or size of project.)
